Waddesdon Manor built to entertain

Waddesdon Manor and Estate offers a unique selection of venues, in a truly inspiring location, perfect for all kinds of corporate events. This idyllic setting, with exemplary hospitality, gives your guests an experience they will never forget.

Located in the heart of Buckinghamshire, just over an hour's drive from central London, Waddesdon is one of Europe's last remaining properties in 'le style Rothschild', standing testament to the glory days of the Rothschild family – and all that personifies hospitality.

Designed by Gabriel-Hippolyte Destailleur and constructed between 1874 and 1885, Baron Ferdinand de Rothschild built Waddesdon as a weekend retreat to entertain friends and family, and display his exceptional collection of art. Ferdinand's 'Saturday to Monday' parties, serving exceptional food and wine became legendary. Guests included royalty, politicians and celebrated artistic and literary figures.

The Rothschild family has remained devoted to Ferdinand's vision and the tradition of legendary hospitality in a fabulous setting lives on – a tradition we invite you and your colleagues to share.

The Rothschilds, at the height of their influence and power throughout Europe, bought two of the finest first growth Chateaux in Bordeaux; Château Lafite Rothschild and Château Mouton Rothschild.

Today, the Wine Cellars in Waddesdon Manor are home to Lord Rothschild's private collection of more than 12,000 bottles of rare vintage wine dating back to 1868. Led by our wine expert, you and your guests can unravel the mystique of these great wines – and discover the rising stars.

“Everyone, without exception, was delighted with the warmth of reception and the expert and friendly way with which Waddesdon's wine expert conducted the tasting. Even the most experienced amongst us gained from your wide ranging and extraordinary depth of understanding of your subject”
